Our Bishop

His excellency, Bishop George J. Rehring of Toledo cheerfully bids adieu to his devoted faithful as he boards the train which starts his journey to the eternal city, Rome. He seems to be enjoying one brief moment of relaxation which will soon end when he stops to consider all of the duties he will have to perform in order to represent his flock at the Ecumenical Council.

THE MOST REVEREND GEORGE JOHN REHRING, S.T.D.
BISHOP OF TOLEDO

Our Pastor

Father Burger, as pastor of St. Paul's Parish, is responsible for the religious, intellectual, social and physical development of the students of the high school. He manifests a spirit of kindness toward and interest in each of the students.

THE REV. KARL L. BURGER

Our Principal

Father James E. Steinle accomplishes a twofold office. He not only pilots the near-three hundred Paulites through many long hours each day, but also makes himself available as spiritual guide to his teen-age flock. Just as from his office he directs the day's activities, so at the altar he leads the student body in the day's most important hour -- the offering of the Holy Mass. Teacher, Father, Friend -- these are the capacities in which St. Paul students learn to know Father Steinle.

THE REV. JAMES E. STEINLE

An abstract geometric design composed of several large triangles in black and gray, arranged in a cross-like pattern. The triangles are of varying sizes and orientations, creating a dynamic and modern visual effect. The design is centered on the page, with the text to its right.

Dedication

To the devoted and understanding faculty of St. Paul's High School, we dedicate this, the thirty-eighth volume of the yearbook. Our dedication comes in appreciation of the faculty's tireless efforts to build character in St. Paul's students and in remembrance of all the extra hours, you, our SPH faculty have spent in giving us a Christian education. Our dedication is but a small token for your unceasing endeavors to train us morally, spiritually, physically, and mentally.

"The sower went out to sow his seed. And as he sowed, some fell by the wayside... some fell upon a rock... some fell among thorns... and some fell upon good ground."

St. Luke, 8; 5-8

Do you recall when we, the Class of '63, were "freshies"? Sister Mary Alphonsus was the girls' advisor and former Coach Anthony Paris guided the boys. Our first financial endeavor was the bake sale at Mack's Insurance Company at which we netted $238. Monsignor Hilary Weger, our pastor and friend resigned and Father George Jaeger assumed the pastoral duties.

Remember when...? Father Steinle became principal of the high school? Father Arthur Badger was transferred to Sylvania? Father P.A. Mueller guided us through retreat January 30-31? The candy drive? Sister Mary Victor was sophomore advisor? Bob Smith, '37, graduate of SPH spoke at the Athletic Banquet and when our football record was 5-4 and the basketball season ended with a 4-15 slate?

During the school year 1961-62 our psycho-social environment was altered. Monsignor Hilary Weger and Very Rev. George C. Jaeger passed away; Father Karl Burger became our tenth pastor. Father Michael Ricker was replaced by Fathers Robert Wilhelm and William Bodart. Sister Mary Madonna and Mrs. Clifford Brown advised us through nine tedious school months.

Memories drift through senior minds as their last year of school comes to a close all too suddenly. Sadly we recall the confusion involved in the posing for our senior pictures, the rejoicing in our undefeated football season, the proudness shared in the honors bestowed on the three football players, the dances at which we toiled, the last exams we crammed for, the personalities that emerged while practicing for our Christmas and class plays. We leave it all and face maturity with a certain sadness, but, nevertheless, confident that we will succeed in reaching our endeavors.

The St. Paul's graduates have crossed these steps for four joyous years. Now as their senior year comes to a close, the senior officers cross the steps for the last time. In one last moment of togetherness, D. Hackathorn, president; T. Miller, vice-president; W. Boose, treasurer; and M. Boes, secretary walk to graduation practice.

Find Your Dream."

ELIZABETH J. THEISEN

JOHN F. HAEUPTLE

SPH seniors gave the underclassmen a thrill as they displayed their graduation pictures in the case temporarily vacated by the athletic trophies.

Two of our classmates have dedicated their lives to God. Elizabeth Theisen is a postulant at Notre Dame Novitiate, Toledo, Ohio; and John Haeuptle is attending Pontifical College, Josephinum, Worthington, Ohio.

Timidly the freshmen enter the halls of St. Paul's. Being on the gateway of a completely new system of education, electing class officers, and participating in school drives gives them their first opportunity for developing a strong class spirit. Latin verbs confuse them and algebra equations puzzle them but these new things help to give SPH "freshies" a firm foundation for the years to come.

Proudly our sophomores plunged into school activities. Awards piled up, success mounted, and the sophs marched forward. "The injections of school spirit and class togetherness" into all their attempts, brought them praise and admiration from all the Paulites. Field trips, problems contemplating angles, hexagons, circles and Latin irregular verbs, filled minds with knowledge that must help to carry them through many years of life and accomplishments.

Putting on their first dance, "Victories of Plenty," selling magazines in the Junior Magazine Drive and planning the going away trip for the seniors show the juniors the many varied responsibilities of being an upperclassman. With a vigorous class spirit and firm hearts, the juniors prepare to meet the challenges of their senior year.

on the byways of education

St. Paul's was founded to provide a Catholic education for its students. Religion is a mainstay of its curriculum. It gives Paulites an opportunity to study the history of their church and its teachings.

Social studies help Paulites to learn about the history of mankind. The course is sub-divided into ancient history, modern history, American history, civics, and sociology.

In order to prepare the students of today for the business world of tomorrow, St. Paul's offers courses in typing, office practice, bookkeeping, shorthand, and general business. Students are given practical business experience through actual business activities in the classroom.

The knowledge which is stored up from the courses in mathematics can always be applied. Future careers benefit from this excellent training of the mind.

To produce scientists for the space race the U.S. needs adequate science curricula in all high schools. St. Paul's cooperates by offering its students a four year science program consisting of general science, biology, chemistry and physics.

Today nations are only a few short hours apart. Therefore the knowledge of foreign languages is very important. SPH students are offered two year courses in French and Latin.

Willingness Cogitation

"When is the Epiphany?" Vernon Dann, a member of the freshman Religion class asks Father Wilhelm as Lazlo Balint and Terry Adelman look over the latest issue of the Catholic Chronicle.

Religion, Social Studies Broaden Outlooks

Apprehensive teenagers, with the fundamental knowledge of man's past can see how ignorance and fear has been the cause of many men losing perspective in exploring the road to fulfilling God's plan. For history concerns the establishment and growth of the Catholic Church,

Comprehension of the future will bring better development of the future. Witnessing the history-making events adds a clear understanding of what is to come, and how individual efforts can improve conditions. The strength of our nation is dependent on its capabilities of its citizens.

Are you telling the truth? Mildred Boes doesn't seem to believe that Robert Reichert's definition of government is correct. As interested sociology students view the proceedings, Leon Smith and Dennis Foos preside over the debate.

John Fish, George Ward and James Goostree appear occupied with the facts of the growth of the Catholic Chronicle and its functions as explained by Father Wilhelm. John Metz stands prepared to answer all questions.

Being "in the know" and forming correct conclusions will aid these teen-agers when their turn to govern arrives. Norma Simon sizes up an article, while Mary Dobbs and Judith Anderson clip political cartoons from a newspaper. Patrick Pigman and Donald Wise fasten an enlightening excerpt.

L. Roth and P. Goostree attempt to give E. Buki, D. Wygal, and J. Englert the sites of early Church councils.

Freshman ancient history students seem to be dividing their attention between Coach Robert Irvin and the cameraman as Coach explains an important event of the deep dark past.

Freshman English class watches J. Basom as she points out homonyms.

"Is this the dagger I see before me?" The words of Macbeth have come alive via recors to Senior English students J. Stutzman, D. Gates, C. Hippler, J. Winkler, and A. Robertson.

Sophomores C. Heller, J. Reichert, D. Wygal and C. Ackerman compare old and new English textbooks.

Languages Help Lift

Today's nations are only hours apart. People may have breakfast in New York, dinner in Rome and supper in Shanghai. As a result, a knowledge of foreign languages is very important. As world tensions increase, Paulites realize this necessity and take advantage of the languages taught at SPH. St. Paul's offers two-year courses in both Latin and French.

"France is divided into ninety departments," is the summary Stephen Sanger, Ellen Riggelman, Diane Flory, and George Schlottterer have arrived at after examining the map of France on the board.

R. Lutts, E. Meyer, S. Tesmer, and G. Ward evaluate editorials in English III.

Tape recording is a great help in learning the fundamentals of speech. Listening intently to Kenny Plue are Donald Gates, Charles Fisher, Daniel Mundy, and Douglas Spettle.

After each edition of the Look-A-Head rolls off the press, the journalism staff forms a unique little assembly line to fold papers and stuff them into envelopes; T. Miller, N. Frederick, J. Fox, S. Stotz, S. Lonz, D. Burrill, D. Dible, J. Powers, S. Meesig, M. Meesig, C. Giallombardo, and J. Schumm work together earnestly.

Barriers Between Nations

Speech helps the students to be articulate in both speaking and writing. Journalism enables them to use their abilities in writing to an advantage in informing as well as entertaining others.

Daily drill in the Latin arts enables fluency in pronouncing difficult words for D. Ringholz, C. Snyder, M. Meesig, T. Trotter, N. Amerine, J. Krupp, and B. Schaffer.

Latin II requires hours of memorizing and thoughtful application which build a better comprehensive study of language. F. Kozak underlines "interfecerunt" to drill M. Cook and J. Kramer in the subjunctive mood.

Measuring, filtering, and siphoning, D. Orphy, J. Frisch, D. Dempsey, A. Jauk, and E. Kramer, prepare for a Chemistry experiment.

Dennis Foos isn't quite able to lift the glass dome as Gerald Kayatin pushes down on the pump that creates a vacuum and frustrates Dennis' efforts.

R. Kline demonstrates the use of the tuning fork while K. Reed explains the different parts of the ear to the members of the general science class. M. Riggelman and S. Lutts look on.

Microscopes, floral arrangements, and specimens of a thousand varieties are inspected by A. Vartorella, J. Obringer, D. Metz, N. Reineck, and D. Rospert. Collections such as these line the biology room.

Math, Sciences

A. Brutsche and J. Loyer fill out and sign checks while P. Owens makes sure that no mistakes are made.

Now more than ever before it is necessary to learn the fundamentals of mathematics and science. With increased emphasis on the space race, the four-year courses in both subjects constitutes an important part of the St. Paul curriculum.

Finding that Geometry offers new ideas and usages, Sophmores, B. Skinn, H. Smith, M. McLaughlin, and J. Reichert demonstrate parallels, with the help of cardboard and a pencil.

Prepare Pupils For Atomic Age

S. Laux, P. Larrow, D. Wechter, and S. Brady are relieved as they finally uncover the secrets Algebra I holds hidden for inquisitive minds.

Entering the world of higher math, Gerald White, Martha Wise, Dolores Schafer, and Stephen Sanger try to comprehend the confusing figures of the slide rule.

R. Gies and R. Reichert appear to understand, for the time being, what B. Janoco and J. Newcomer are proving in a trig. problem.

M. Reineck, S. McCready, C. Sadler, and C. Ringholtz are performing secretarial services in Office Practice.

Commercial Courses

Students who plan to attend college and those who don't can profit by the study of courses in commerce offers. The variety of these courses enriches the possibilities for future vocations. Dependability, accuracy, neatness, and alertness are four of the excellent qualities which exemplify exactly the way the student will carry out his job in the future.

James Hipp, Roger Kramer, Lauren Heydinger and Robert Brutsche type diligently to the rhythmic music of Sister Mary Jane's record player.

Leon Smith, Michael Ryan, Annette Simon, Patricia Farmer, and Theresa Herics find running the adding machines a pleasant task as they prepare for their work in the business profession.

P. Kluding, K. Baische, and C. Case practice their shorthand outlines diligently. ("Oh will we ever get those forms to look like Sister Mary Jane's?")

Offer Opportunities

Martha Wise properly assorts material for the filing cabinet.

Taking precise notes is one of the basic problems of Shorthand II. Busily taking notes from the record player are: M. Boes, M. Stoll, and C. Prystas.

K. Mainzer, N. Wise, and D. Wise appear interested as R. Crist gives a report on the business administration.

Today more than ever, the domestic science department of St. Paul's takes special care in training the average girl to be a more than average Christian woman and homemaker.

Modeling the dress made for her by her Aunt C. Hippler, Tamara Caprara attracts the attention of M. Mahlke, K. Potts, and G. Hipp.

The nimble fingers of M. Pheifer, S. Sitterly, D. Theisen, and M. Pheifer, prepare an inviting table of tempting morsels for Home Economics I class.

"Hold that compass firm, Richard," Father Steidle warns as Richard Schnellinger demonstrates his method of dimensioning to Gary Heller and James Hipp. Learning to draw with accuracy is one of the main aims of the mechanical drawing test.

A. Brown, L. Farmer, B. Hickey, D. Metz, S. Laux, Mrs. Wesley Preston, instructor; J. Rapp, L. O'Dell, M. Fox, C. Widman and J. Kramer really whip up their basketball skill in gym class. And why not with two excellent gym teachers in one short year?

SPH Ventures Into New Frontier

St. Paul's builds hardy men for the New Frontier! President Kennedy strongly advises the development of the body along with the development of the mind. In ancient days Spartans believed in just the physical well-being, whereas the Athenians promoted both mental and physical development. The Athenian way of thinking proved to be the better when the shields, swords and intellects met in the battle. The physical education classes offer advancement in character training, coordination and mental and physical balance.

"Careful, John; don't hit your head on the ceiling." Sophomore boys R. Dilger, J. Reineck, D. Rospert, R. Brutsche, C. Miller, Coach Irvin, R. Kramer, R. Krupp, L. Heydinger, R. Tien, M. Tesmer, C. Heller, D. Stoll, J. Heyman, and Gerald Weisenberger find watching J. Obringer jump is as much fun as spotting the trampoline.

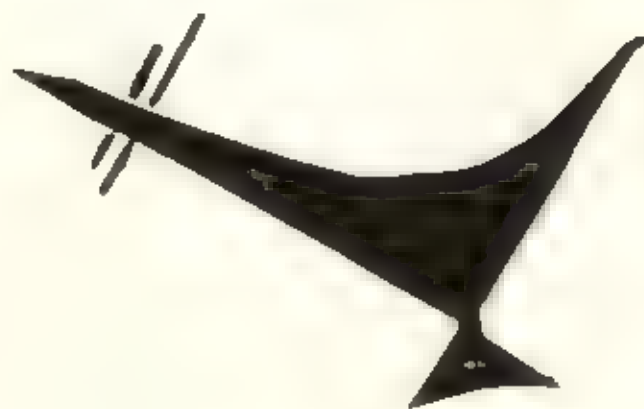

"Who misses or who wins the prize-Go lose or conquer, as you can. But if you fall, or if you rise Be each, pray God, a gentleman. "These words on the locker room wall sum up the purpose of football at St. Paul's. It builds school spirit and a good sense of sportsmanship besides training the faculties of the body.

Basketball is an invigorating sport; it trains each boy to think and act quickly, to function in co-ordination with others and to excel in good sportsmanship. This is the lesson learned only through the hard work of the boys and their coach.

The St. Paul trackmen soon find out the importance of that split second timing. Track, as no other sport, depends on each contestant. The size of the player means very little, since each runner, weight man, or pole vaulter depends on his ability, not his size.

Hands raised in triumphant gesture, the victorious Flyers prepare to celebrate their undefeated season. Team, rah! Coach, rah! Everybody, rah!

Let the bells ring out in praise of the 1962 St. Paul football team. The Flyers are indeed worthy of their praise as they become the only undefeated football team, not only in the history of St. Paul's, but the entire history of the city of Norwalk. The Flyers, under the leadership of Coach Robert Irvin, seemed to be invulnerable on the field. They were voted third on the final ratings of the AP poll.

These six lassies form a mountain of smiles and cheers: C. Widman, M. Reineck, J. Meyer, M. Stoll, J. Reineck, J. Fox.

Coach and players plan new strategy in order that they may forge onward to victory! What a game! What a team!

Fallback Terry Ackerman races around end for good yardage on a handoff from Tom Seitz. Opposing defenders close in quickly as David Mayle fakes possession of the ball.

Father Kuhn of St. John, Delphos, congratulates Father Steinle on the Flyers' win. Good sportsmen at the helm!

T. Ackerman surges toward the goal line and a foeman.

Coach looks worried, but if only Lady Macbeth were around--'A general and afeard, my Lord?'

"Yea team!" shout the loyal SPH fans cheering their team to another victory. Enthusiastic Pep Club members make the stands shake with every cheer.

This year's undefeated football squad takes time out to pose for the photographer. Starting at bottom left: S. Schnellinger, J. Pfeiler (manager), R. Tein, J. Heyman, D. Ware T. Fries, D. Mayle, M. Tesmer, D. Stoll, C. Amato, J. Obringer (manager); second row: T. McClain (assistant coach), J. Christian, G. Coder, G. Rospert, T. Seitz, M. Ryan, J. Wasiniak, J. Rospert, T. Shaffoe, D. Opposing players make a futile attempt to block a Jim Wasiniak tip-in, but "Waz" sinks it.

The 1962-63 basketball squad can indeed be proud of their accomplishments this year. Although the record will show that they were on the losing end with a 7-10 season record, it will not show the never ending enthusiasm and will to win shown by the players, coaches, and fans. The Flyers entered many of the games as the underdog, but coming to life making the rafters shake with excitement. Most of the games the Saints lost were by a mere two or three points.

In the Huron county basketball tournament the Red Men just couldn't get up enough steam to overpower the straight shooting South Central team.

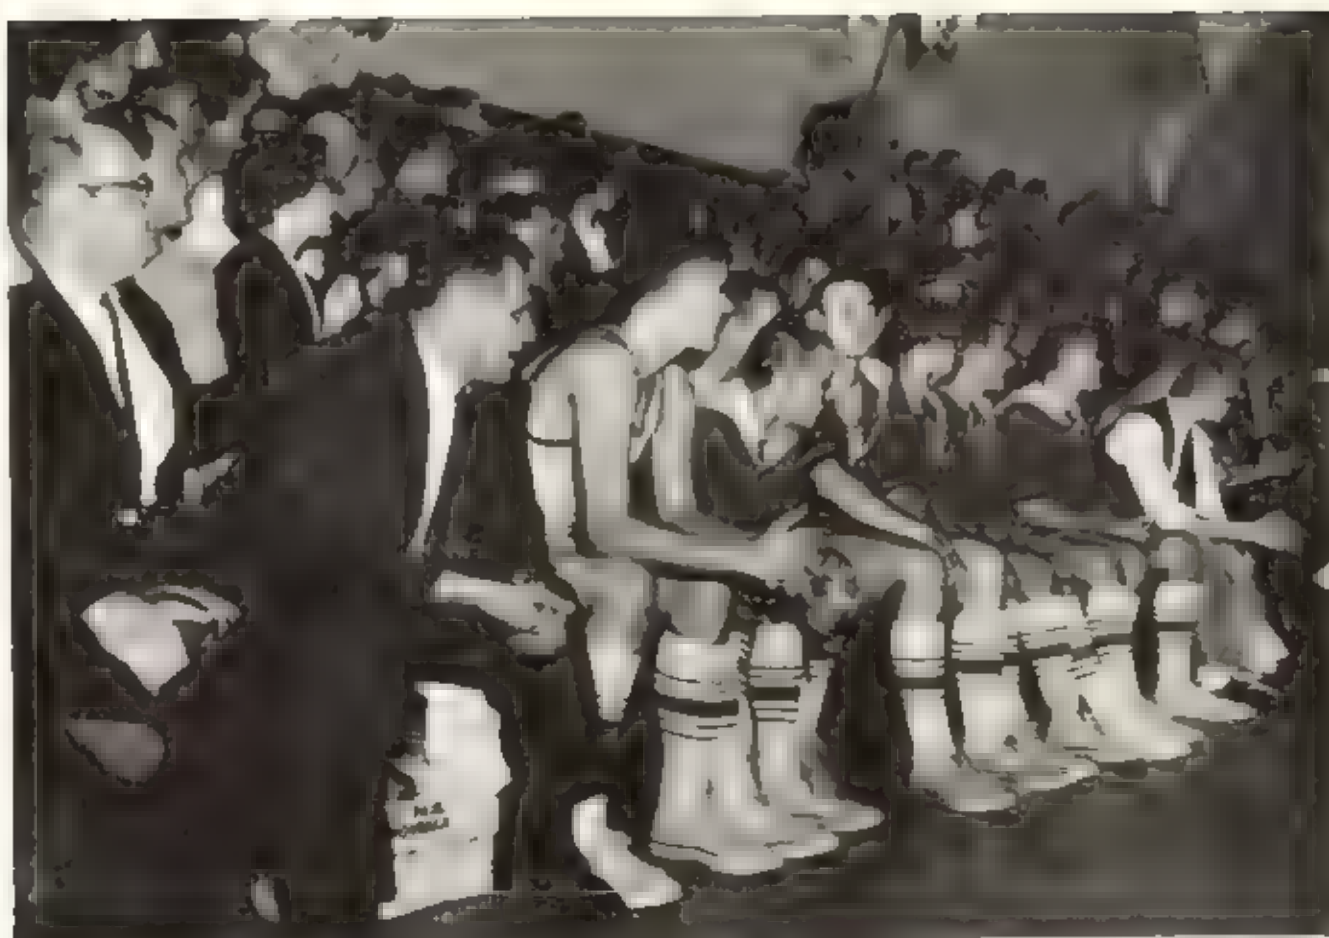

The Reserve squad, under the watchfull eye of Mr. T. McClain, racked up their second winning straight season. They compiled an 11-5 mark.

D. Hackathorn waits to get the rebounds, but J. Wasiniak won't miss this tip-in.

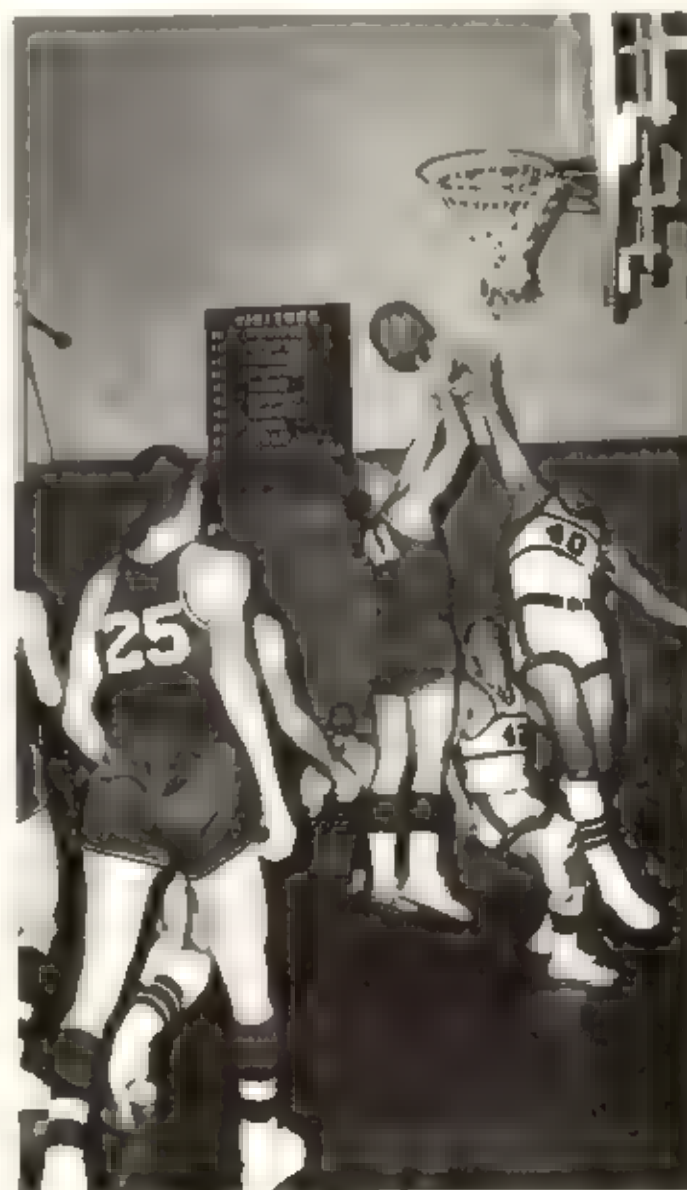

Ken Pheifer and another player watch in amazement as Mike Hickey makes an easy layup.

With the look of hope in their faces, Coaches McClain and Irvin, M. Ryan, T. Seitz, J. Rospert, J. Cook, T. Swick, M. Myers, J. Magnuson, and B. Boose, watch the final exciting minutes of the game.

Coach Irvin, J. Cook, J. Rospert, B. Boose, J. Wasiniak, T. Seitz, M. Ryan, and K. Pheifer group around in a huddle to check their strategy.

James Cook leaps after a team mate's stray shot in the Green Springs game.

Flyer players show anticipation and disappointment as the opposing team hits a shot.

Mike Hickey makes a desperate attempt to block his opponent's shot. Jim Wasiniak waits for the rebound.

'We're with you team so fight,' thunder forty-one Pep Club members as they urge their team to another victory. The group includes: (first row) M. Reineck, J. Fox, T. Miller, N. Frederick, S. Stotz, M. Meesig, J. Egle; (second row) J. Powers, C. Prystas, A. Simon, J. Anderson, K. Baisch, P. Lanius, D. Flory; (third row) C. Case, V. Miller, C. Noon, S. Meesig, C. Ackerman, S. Spangler, J. Brady, J. Basom, M. Boose, S. Schindley and K. Hug.

"Listen boys, the only way to win is to get out and fight!" Coach Robert Irvin encourages his varsity players in the York-St. Paul game.

The final intramural game was stolen from the seniors by the sophomores. Proudly holding the victory ball are R. Tien, R. Dilger, R. Kramer, D. Rospert, J. Obringer, R. Heyman, E. Buki; Coaches G. Mack and C. Furey; R. Brutche, and D. Stoll.

The Mixed Chorus permits musically inclined students to use their voices to praise God and to contribute to the cultural development of their fellowmen.

The FTA is an extra-curricular activity which helps to show interested high school students the duties and responsibilities of the teaching field and to prepare them for a possible future career in teaching.

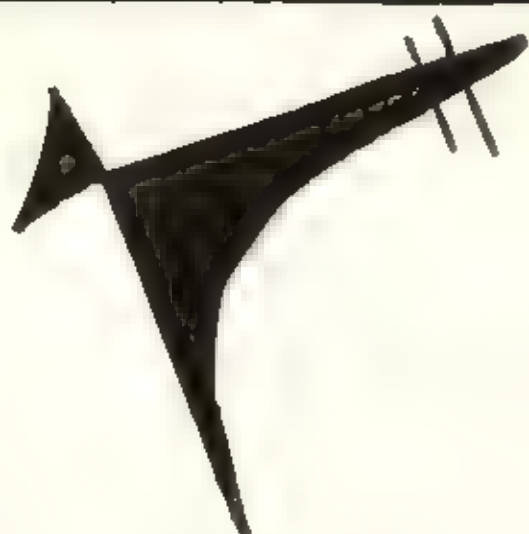

Girls who find that they have a vocation to the nursing profession discover that the Future Nurses of America is an interesting as well as a rewarding organization. It helps to widen their knowledge about a nursing career.

The St. Paul Pep Club, now in its fourth year, has as its most important duty the formation of good sportsmanship among the student body and the team. As its secondary task, it aims to stimulate school spirit.

The CYO is a parish organization which has as its four major aspects the religious, cultural, social and athletic development of its members. It also helps to instill a deep sense of loyalty toward the parish.

The Look-A-Head and SPirit, the St. Paul publications, offer the students an excellent opportunity to acquire abundant knowledge about the challenging field of journalism.

The CSMC gives the student body an opportunity to help people who are less fortunate than they. It enkindles in them a zeal for the foreign missions and helps to promote a charitable attitude for their fellowman.

Wholesome Entertainment

Senior servers J. Wasiniak, J. Cook, D. Foos, D. Hackathorn, J. Coder, T. Seitz, J. Rospert, and R. Crist prepare for their last Solemn High Mass that they will be able to serve before they graduate on June 2.

Father James Walsh leads the students in their annual retreat.

Servers J. Kline, R. Prince, J. Goostree, J. Reichert, T. Crist, D. Brady, C. Keller, J. Fisher, M. Cook, T. Adelman, T. Fries, S. Beat, T. Lodge, T. Reichert. Second row, K. Phiefer, D. Wise, J. Metz, G. Schlotterer, D. Wilhelm, M. Meesig, J. Hay, G. Mack, J. Magnuson, W. Brutsche, R. Janoco, J. Hipp, R. Wiedemann, and C. Amoto find honor in being able to represent their fellow students at the altar of God.

SPH students participate in the sacrifice of the Mass, a daily practice at St. Paul's.

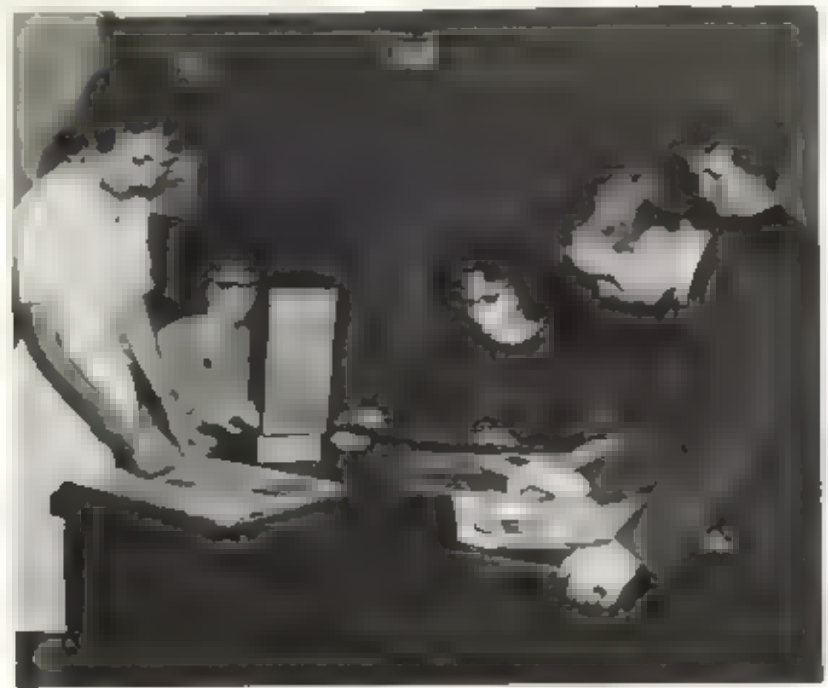

Mrs. Elizabeth Morrow CRNA meets with the FNA Officers Teresa Bellamy, Ruth Gies, Mrs. Leon Lodermeier, R. N; advisor, Betty Hickey and Carol Widman at one of the club's meetings.

Editor-in-Chief of the SPirit, Marilyn Meesig, consults with Assistant Editor Dennis Dible on dummy sheets. Carol Giallombardo, Susan Lonz, Theresa Miller, Sandra Stotz, and John Schumm examine their respective sections.

L-A-H Page Editors Daniel Burrill, Janet Fox, and Sharon Meesig confer with Editor-in-Chief Nancy Frederick while Judy Powers checks the card file.

K. Lucas lectures on teaching methods, while S. Meesig, J. Anderson, S Stotz, C. Prystas, N. Frederick, J. Fox, C. Sadler, T. Miller, J. Egle, secretary; M. Meesig, J. Schumm, treasurer; and J. Newcomer listen. Patricia Mellen, president, was absent when the picture was taken.

S. Lonz pages through the file cabinet to find the requested information for R. Prince.

Measures of melodious tunes float over head as couples of the CYO Christmas dance sway to rhythmic tunes.

Dances, Activities Bolster Class Spirit

Only 600 hungry, growling, mouths to feed five days a week ! That's the heavy duty which weighs down the persevering women in the cafeteria. Under the direction of Mrs. Roth, Mrs. Gies, Mrs. Eggleston, Mrs. Lenhart and Mrs. Spinello serve the growing Paulites with their usual cheerful smiles.

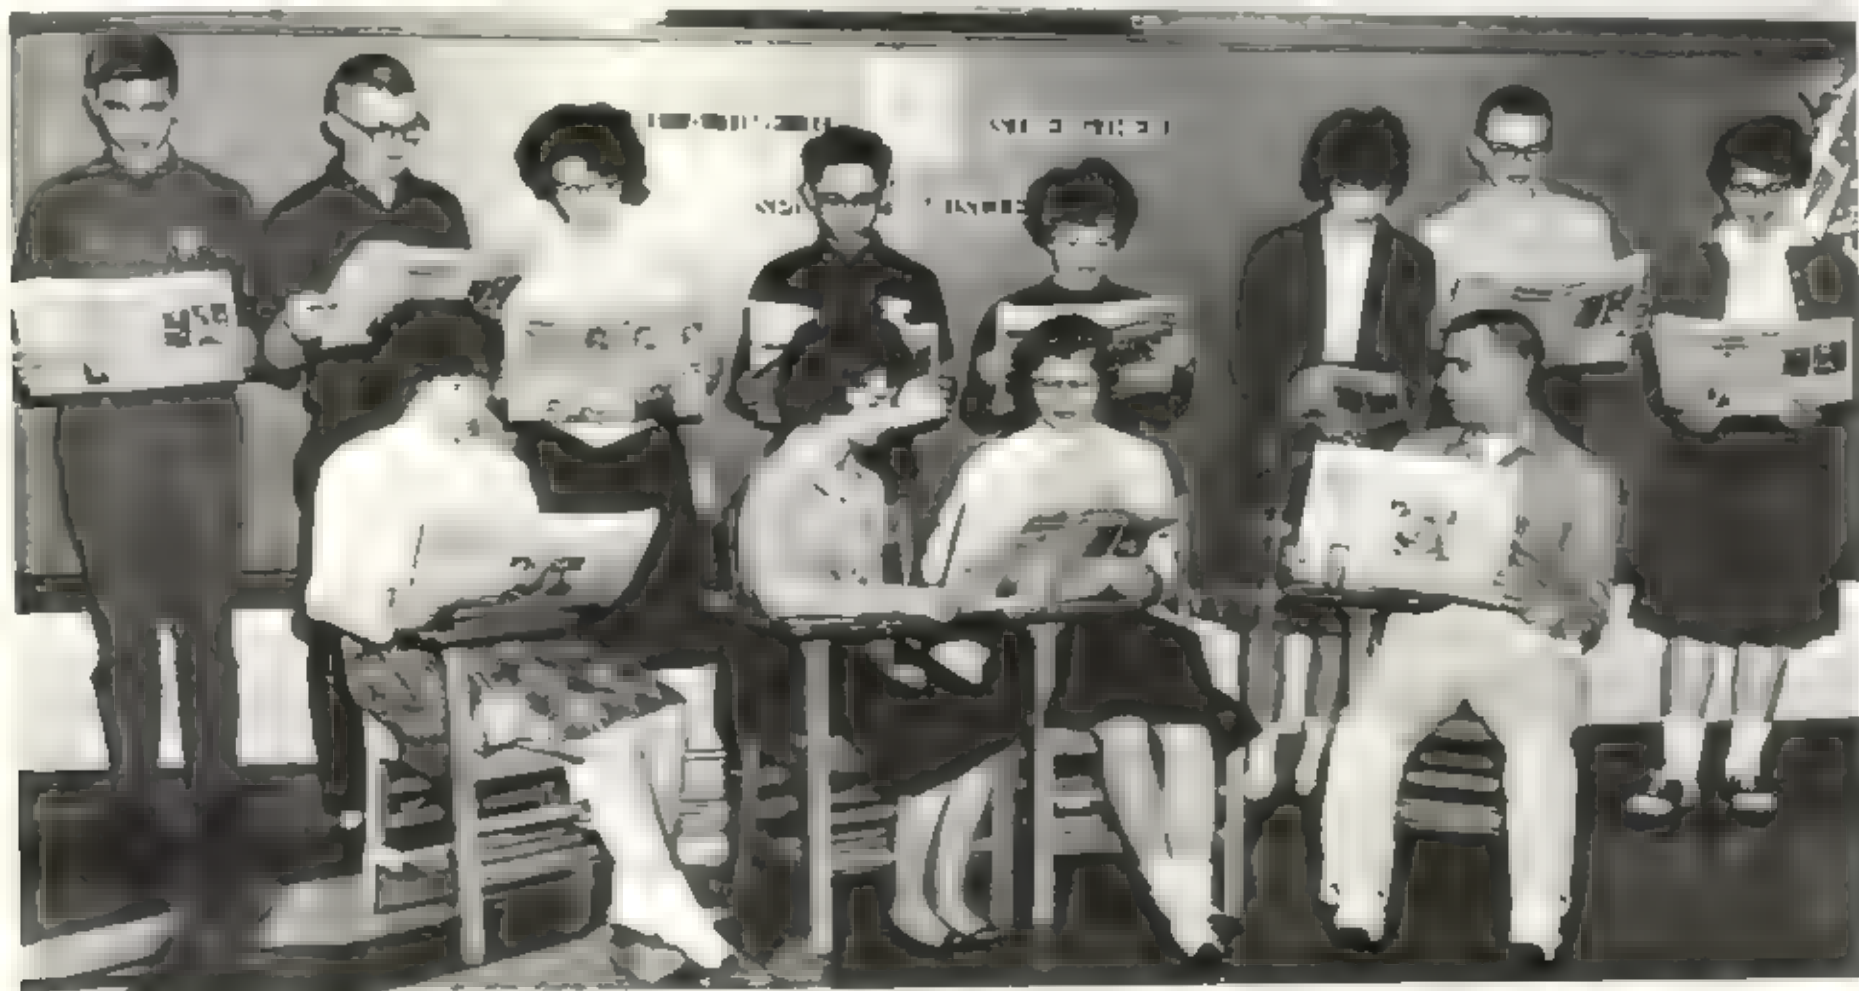

Dennis Smith, Martha Wise, and Kathryn Potts, high sellers in the junior magazine drive display their prizes.

With the look of satisfaction on their faces, R. Brutsche, J. Reineck, and J. Plue check over the sophomore financial report after a successful bake sale.

Linda Rogers, Mary Ann Strong, Karen Harshberger, and Sally Spangler cheer the underclassmen on at the Powder Puff football game.

These hard working Catholic Chronicle salesmen take time out to enjoy the many interesting articles in the Catholic Chronicle. Seated: C. Noon, M. Bleile, F. Kozak, G. Rospert. Standing: D. Wechter, W. Boose, K. Walker, R. Kline, C. Prystas, A. Missler, C. Keller, and J. Kramer.

"Let's make sure we have enough signs for the next game," is the encouragement President M. Meesig offers to the other Pep Club officers: M. Reineck, secretary; B. Meyers, freshman representative; L. Rogers, vice-president; and S. Meesig, treasurer who apply the finishing touches to another set of signs to adorn the halls.

The melodic voices of "The Triple Trio" ring out under the direction of Miss Carolyn Lonz. These enthusiastic vocalists are: B. Janoco, L. O'Dell, K. Lucas, A. Brown, S. Dobbs, M. Fox, S. Lonz, and J. Powers. P. Mellen is missing.

Cultural Units

Crooked Carl (Robert Spettle), the crippled orphan, seeks encouragement from his older sister, Gretchen (Mary Reineck), in the senior Christmas play, "A Robe for the Duchess."

M. A. Strong accepts congratulations from Father Steinle after capturing the A. J. Baltes spelling trophy for the second year. Runners-up, K. Hug and B. Reichert look on.

Miss Carolyn Lonz directs the mixed chorus: S. Laux, C. Prystas, A. Brutsche, M. Balint, M. Hickey, R. Gies, B. Janoco, J. Gies, A. Smith, J. Reineck, S. Bear, D. Martin, W. Esker, D. Orphey, S. ## Encourage Individual Participation

D. Lesch finds delight of a literary nature in a period of browsing in the library.

Father Robert Wilhelm stands in the background just to make sure that his CYO officers assemble their project correctly : Charles Furey, treasurer; Margaret Remeck, secretary; Mary Remeck, vice-president; and James Cook, president.

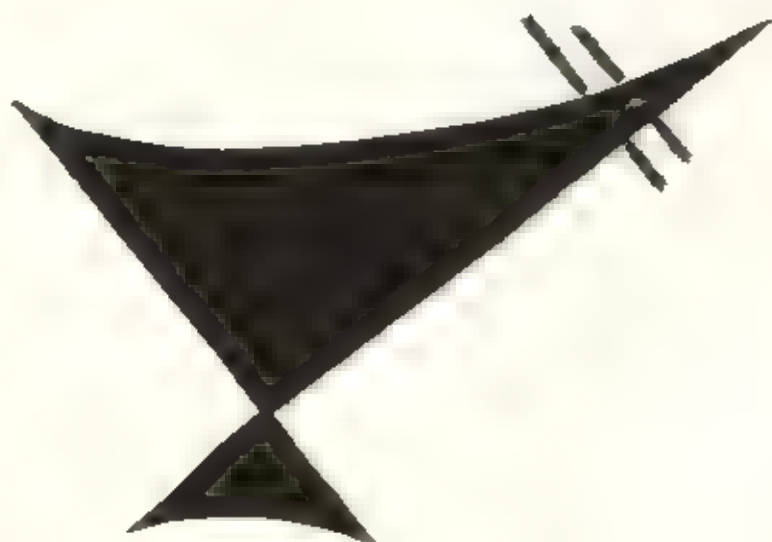

In addition to their multitudinous duties of assisting the pastor in managing a parish of 4,300 souls, our parish priests help to provide a fuller education for the high school students. Many years of preparation, besides their seminary training, have equipped our priests for their teaching duties.

Through the dedication of their own lives, the religious faculty aims to bring all men to God. With St. Paul's students as the specific present objects, they give generously of their talents and individual education to further intellectual growth and to discipline the "weakened will" of Adam's progeny.

Having the ability to give, give, give seems to be the basic requirement for the vocation of the lay teacher. Endless hours of correcting exams, averaging grades, categorizing materials and retaining self control is the lot of the lay teachers for the nine months during which students buckle down to "gather" education.

Yes, many hours of tedious work go into the daily diet of the SPH faculty. Patient, dedicated and skilled teachers labor through days which turn into weeks, and weeks which become months in their ever upward, onward striving to mold youth into intelligent citizens of two worlds.

Our Priests

Smiling cheerfully, Father William Bodart directs the sophomore religion class.

It looks as if Father Robert Wilhelm has stumbled onto an amusing event while directing his junior religion class.

Our Supervisor

Mrs. Vartorella, commonly known as Mrs. V. checks to make sure that all of the encyclopedias are on the shelves for the students' use.

Our Secretary

Busily relaying telephone messages is one of the many tasks of the school secretary, Mrs. Raymond Peat.

English II and III teacher, Miss Carolyn Lonz pastes up posters of various periods of American History to better illustrate literary periods.

School librarian, Mrs. Clifford Brown writes out a card envelope for a newly purchased book.

Mrs. Eli Joyce joined the SPH faculty as the health and phys. ed. instructor, but left after the first semester to continue her studies at Bowling Green State University.

Mrs. Wesley Preston joined the SPH faculty to teach young girls what is necessary to be physically fit.

Our Lay Faculty

Coach Irvin takes time out to pose for the photographer. That smile means that he is very happy with his new office right next to Father Steidle's.

Our Maintenance Men

Mr. Richard Hohler and Mr. John Snyder find that even though the students take pride in their school, there are still numerous jobs to perform in keeping the halls spic 'n span.
